Christmas Tree Lighting Will Delight All Ages

Standley Park will come alive with music and lights as young and old gather in front of the Rec Center for the annual Christmas Tree Lighting Friday, December 12th at 6:00 p.m. You won't want to miss this special event. Bring your kids and grandkids, friends and neighbors, or don't hesitate to come alone to enjoy the festivities.

The talented Standley Middle School band will entertain along with the Tuesday Night Alibi quartet and the Our Mother of Confidence Children's Choir. There will be balloons for the kids, a visit from the fire department, and Santa himself will be there. Hot chocolate and cookies will be served compliments of Westfield.

Thanks to co-chairs, Mary Ann Guerra and Darlene Ventimiglia and Decoration Chair, Judy Bethel and all their elves for their work on this community event. UCCA especially wishes to thank Miramar Nursery for donating the beautiful tree and Westfield for providing lighting, refreshments and balloons. We appreciate their very generous support.

Thank the wonderful group of Friends of the Library too, as well as the residents who went to bat for our hometown's library.

Close our U.C. Library? Never! University City Community Association joined with many other community organizations on November 22nd, in front of the U.C. Library to rally the community to save our library, which the mayor proposed to close along with six other libraries across the City. The rallying cry was heard from O.B. to U.C. with Clairemont, University Heights, Allied Gardens, Carmel Mountain Ranch, and Mountain View also staging impressive rallies . People held up signs on

President's Report

Andy Freeburn, President

University City Community Association

Last month I touted how wonderful it is to live in University City, close to all the great San Diego attractions, yet keeping a very real small town feel. Unfortunately, one of the cornerstones of our neighborhood activities, our Library, is in jeopardy of being closed for the next five years. This recent detriment of our community services started three years ago with the reduction in the number of open hours at Standley Park Recreation Center and our Library. We then saw seasonal closing of Swanson Pool on an annual basis. Next was a threat to the staff and management of the Recreation Center. In small business, when income slows, the proprietor is able to make necessary changes, including pay reduction to steer his/her livelihood to safety

Although I understand our City Council leads by reaction and must now cut funding, I am frustrated by the lack of solutions to this draconian decision. The sad realization is that our library was chosen because of its size and age. However, it remains one of the most accessible libraries in the system.

If the Library is closed, I suggest we commandeer OUR library and staff it with citizen volunteers and keep it available for research and reading the books on hand. The library could then be available commensurate with the neighborhood's desire to staff it. If nothing else, set up a new citizen's library, by and for the people! A grass roots effort to upstage our civic leaders should they fail to keep our neighborhood libraries open. In my opinion, the closure of our libraries is the epitome of government's lack of responsibility to its citizens. If now is not the time for us to lead, then when? As our Nation, State, and City attempt to survive desperate times ahead, it will be up to each resident of University City to be a proprietor. Yes, we'll have to do it ourselves.

Governor Drive opposing the severe cuts to the libraries that were targeted as a means of closing the gap of $43 million the City budget faces. Drivers honked their horns in support. Over 700 hundred people signed petitions opposed to the closures; these petitions were delivered to City Hall. This was the second rally held at our hometown library. Although targeted for closure, U.C. Library is ironically on a list for expansion. Go figure. According to Friends of the Library, U.C. had already picked out new tile, paint, and carpeting to be installed. The Friends of the Library, all volunteers, raised funds to pay for new chairs.

Local Children Fill UC with Beautiful Music

University City residents were treated to wonderful classical piano performances by the students of Anna Yanovsky on November 16 at her University City concert hall.

UC students Gregory Horvath, Kevin and Paulo Cruz, Alex and Kira Wu, Ethan and Dahlia Grizzard, and James MacCann performed pieces by Beethoven, Rachmaninov, Chopin, Bach and Tchaikovsky.

Due their extensive training and tireless practice, these students play at a higher level than most children in their age group. They play

COMMUNITY ASSISTED PARTY PROGRAM

By: Steve and Kat Deppensmith

(CAPP) coordinates neighborhood party disturbances with residents calls to the police department as well as officer responses. Once a call is made regarding an unruly or noisy party, the CAPP begins. "First Response Notices are tracked by computer." Further calls may lead to the party hosts being charged for police response costs. If a party location is CAPPED; the designation lasts 1 year and there is zero tolerance for future disruptive parties. Therefore, don't lose sleep because of continued party disturbance. Call SDPD at 619 531 2000 or 858 484 3154 and speak up. For more detailed coverage of CAPP including home owner responsibilities and fines, contact the SDPD Northern Division CAPP coordinator at 858 552, 1717.

complex and lengthy pieces not usually heard from young pianists.

University City has a large and dedicated base of music students and an unlimited amount of admirers. If you know any of these students, make a point to congratulate them on their marvelous performances.

EdUCate!, aka The University City Foundation for Public Schools, would like to thank all UC area families who have clicked on our website even once this fall! The URL is <http://www.uc-educate.org>. From our site you can access each school's web site (including the newly revamped UCHS site). Feel free to send feedback after you visit the site!

We would also like to thank each donor who has supported our Dollar A Day direct donation campaign this fall with even one small donation. This drive will provide funding for laptop computers on all five UC campuses, a continuation of EdUCate's recent technology focus which provided document cameras and digital projectors for the cluster.

UC parents do an amazing job of fund-raising and volunteering. Fortunately, all five schools have enjoyed high participation in their PTSA fundraisers this fall. For example, Standley's direct-donation appeal asks families for $25, and about 50% of families have already donated, to the tune of $15,000. Doyle's catalog sales this fall raised $20,000. We're thrilled that families are "getting it" and are donating generously to their school's PTSA's, despite the economic downturn.

There will be a Health Fair at University City United Church of Christ

Wednesday, January 21 at 7 p.m. Panel discussions will include long-term care, Alzheimer's disease and transportation for the elderly. University City United Church is located at 2877 Governor Drive. For more information, call (858) 453-3444 or visit us online at www.ucuc.org.

At EdUCate! our mission is complementary to the PTSA's, and equally important. We provide for dialog and continuity between the elementary, middle and high school levels, funding larger capital equipment projects through a combination of private and corporate philanthropy. We also reach out beyond the current students' families to the larger UC community of alumni and retirees who value good public schools as an integral part of a strong community.

Our new Teacher Wish List program will help local businesses and private donors find classrooms that can benefit from donated products and volunteer hours, as well as funds.

The popular Honor A Teacher program allows families to thank their classroom teachers and donate to the schools, without violating District ethic standards that prohibit direct gifts to teachers.

Public schools benefited during this election through the passage of Prop S, signaling that families value educational funding even in hard times. Despite the additional Prop S funding, however, deep budgetary cuts are coming our way. The need for personal sacrifice and targeted giving will not decrease as we (and the California State Legislature) work our way out of this recession. But we can do it. YES WE CAN.

UC area public schools will be out of session from December 22 – January 2nd. School resumes January 5, 2009. For more District information, go to <http://www.sandi.net/index.html>.

Preschool looking for a new space

Die Rasselbande, San Diego's first German Preschool was born six years ago due to the hard work and dedication of two mothers, Heike Paulsen from Germany and Johanna Petosa from Austria. What started as a mother's exchange program quickly attracted a sizeable number of mothers who either spoke German, or liked the idea of connecting their little ones with a second language early on. The school outgrew its first premises, and eventually found a home in Clairemont, sharing rental space from a Church with the Petite Ecole French School.

Most Rasselbande pre-schoolers live in nearby communities such as University City and enjoy being part of the cultural and language diversity of this community.

With a growing waiting list and a lease ending next year the Rasselbande needs to move to a new, larger premises to continue their quality second language immersion program at the pre-school level together with other Cultural programs directed at the larger community.

If you have any suggestions for suitable rental space please contact Die Rasselbande either at 858-272-3832 or at <http://www.dierasselbande.com>

UNIVERSITY CITY PHILANTHROPIST, ENTREPRENEUR AND AUTHOR VIVIAN GLYCK SAVES LIVES IN AFRICA BY BUILDING HOSPITAL, SCHOOLS AND MORE

UNIVERSITY CITY,
SAN DIEGO, CA
November 8, 2008—Local marketing executive Vivian Glyck has taken her inspiration to help the children of Africa and made it into reality by creating the non-profit organization, “Just Like My Child.” Two years ago, soon after the birth of her son, Vivian Glyck followed her calling to fight the sickness, poverty and illiteracy in Africa.

“Becoming a mother didn’t just open my heart to my own child, but as so often happens, it opened my heart to the needs and concerns of mothers and children all around the world,” says Vivian. “I developed a keen sense that the world is so small, it is really just one community, and I realized that taking care of oneself means heeding one’s calling - without hesitation or deliberation. With each of these transformations of thought, I grew closer to my vision.”

Statistics illustrating the shocking conditions existing in Africa moved her to do something.

To this date, 17 million Africans have died of AIDS. 25 million people are infected. 3000 children die of Malaria every day. 12 million children are already orphaned by HIV/AIDS

One in ten women die of pregnancy related causes compared to 11.8 per 100,000 in the United States.

Upon hearing these numbers, Vivian decided to travel there herself and learn first hand about the situation.

After traveling to Uganda and seeing the conditions children and their mothers lived in, she knew she had to help. In 2006, she created the organization named for her realization that she would do anything in the world to save her own son. Knowing she had the most basic of health care available to her and her child, why not try to get these necessities to children and mothers of Africa? Only a few months since its creation, the foundation was able to supply a hospital in rural Uganda with...

- A power generator providing

- electricity to the hospital
- A full time doctor to provide 24-hour treatment for the community
- A scholarship to a local girl who lost her mother to AIDS
- Cell count machine to identify the HIV Virus and allow for early treatment

H a v i n g accomplished

such feats in only a few months, Vivian and the foundation look forward to providing the hospital with a surgeon, satellite communication systems, medications and the community with more scholarships to local children. The foundation plans to build 12 schools to send thousands of children to school who would otherwise die without education.

Sarah Anderson Is Almost An Aztec Grad

Sarah Anderson, our Center Director at Standley Park, is popular with her staff and patrons of the park. She's a take charge lady with a calm demeanor that has been tested over the years with the roller coaster ride of Park and Rec plans to close rec centers, eliminate staff, and reduce hours because of City budget woes, especially this moment. Still, Sarah Anderson has kept Standley Park afloat with the help of her recreation council and staff. Standley has often been compared to a community town hall, a place where many U.C. families meet and greet.

Besides working fulltime for Park and Rec, Sarah has been going to San Diego State for her degree in Applied Arts and Sciences with a major in Hospitality and Tourism Management: Meetings and Events Operation Management. Imagine writing all that on a diploma! Sarah's classes end officially on December 18th and grades are not submitted until the end of the year.

"I am very excited to be completing my studies at SDSU. After graduation when I officially "walk" at Commencement on May 23rd, 2009, my plans are to stay with the City of San Diego and explore options in the event field. It is a difficult time to try to get another equivalent paying job in the field with the economy in the condition it is."

As for the status of Standley Park and Recreation Center, Standley is currently slated to have the Assistant Center Director position cut and also have a reduction of 8 operating hours per week. "We have seen many difficult times at this center, and we will strive to continue providing the best service and programs possible given our resources. The Recreation Council has always been very supportive in times of need, allowing the facility to run programs before and after operating hours, providing funds for additional staffing hours for facility operations and events," Sarah said. What we all say to Sarah is: Congratulations on getting your B.S. degree and all you do for our community. Now can you help out the Aztec football team?
